- 25X1 1. [redacted] subscribers to the Fukien Daily News and the Hsin Min (2450/3046) Daily News, both newspapers in Foochow, had to register at the newspaper offices and keep all delivered issues of newspapers until the end of the month, at which time they were to bind the issues together in one bundle and send them to the local police station for checking and counting. If the number of issues submitted by the subscribers did not coincide with the total subscription copies, the police made an investigation to determine what had happened to the missing issues.
2. There were no newspaper hawkers in the streets of Foochow, and subscriptions to the above newspapers were steadily decreasing.
